WHERE IS THE AMERICAN FLAG

That is a vital and a mighty question to this country. Where is the American flag? It is here in the United States, but hardly anywhere else. Foreign steamships, made strong in the contest for the carrying trade with other nations by large subsides, have drawn American vessels from the high seas.

Reviewing this question of American ships and how to build and protect them, a writer, a democrat, by way, sends a few facts and striking suggestions to the democratic New York Sun, which are worth reading. He begins by stating a fact that is true enough to make any American blush with shame:—

In the last eight years the Americans have paid the English, French, Germans, and Italians $1,200,000,000 for carrying their surplus products to a foreign market and bringing home what they bought abroad. Drugged victims of a poisonous British political economy, and negligent country of pro-British politics planted in our victims, we have become so invalid that we not only have suffered foreigners to take from us our most profitable ocean carrying trade but have actually paid them for the robbery a sum of money as great as our national debt!

Then he makes another point which penetrates the free trade argument for free ships and free raw material, with the sharpness of a needle:

A current of gold, like the current of the Mississippi, flows unceasingly outward to the owners of European steamship lines. Standing on the edge of this flow of our nation's life blood, native dupes and hired foreign emissaries are screaming for an alteration of our tariff that shall permit the importation, free of duty, of ships in pieces, made in England, Belgium, and Germany to be put together here by foreign labor in yards owned by foreigners. They cry, "Free ships!" But the freedom of an American ship under a "free materials" tariff would be freedom to rot in her dock for want of employment. The freedom that tariff would give to American seamen would be freedom to starve. The freedom that tariff would give to thousands of American iron and steel workmen now in and around our shipyards would be freedom to sit idle and see foreigners take their places and do their work.

This is the point exactly. With the plan of free ships and free material would inevitably come rotten ships in American docks, and starving workmen. As has been suggested in the Gazette several times, the only way to re-establish American ship-building and to place the American flag on the oceans of the world is to do what England is doing, what France is doing, and what Germany is doing—to protect the flag by subsidies that shall make it possible for American ships to sail as proudly on any sea as those of any other country. Here is another thought:—

"A nation bounded by two oceans, as ours is; whose climate range is from tropical to arctic; whose various soils can produce everything needed by man; which does not supply itself within itself with every requirement and implement of civilization, at war or in peace, from raw materials to finished products, is not free. She is enslaved precisely to the degree of her dependence on foreign supply."

THE KIND OF BLOOD IN YOUNG DEMOCRATS.

The other day a lot of young democrates in Philadelphia got together to pass some resolutions, what were they? They favored free trade, commended Grover Cleveland and denounce Samuel J. Randall, the democratic member of Congress from the district in Philadelphia in which this gathering was held. When the name of Mr. Randall was mentioned the young democrats began to hiss and say that he was no democrat.

There is hardly anything, except the political outrages in the south, that contains a sadder commentary on intelligence and patriotism of the young democracy, than this shameful conduct of these young democrats of Pennsylvania. Who is Samuel J. Randall that he should be hissed? He has been a member of congress from Philadelphia for twenty-six years. He has been speaker of the house three terms. He is an able man. He is likewise a strictly honest man. No one ever charged him with dishonesty in public life. He is an unselfish, high-minded American. He has gained credit while in congress by his success in fighting against some extravagant appropriations. Personally, he is as clean a man in heart and hand as there is in congress.

And the young democracy of Pennsylvania hissed him! He is so strong a partisan that he never bolted a democratic nomination. As a democrat he was wise in making the best job possible out of a very bad national platform in 1884; and even in 1888 he did not bolt like thousands of other democrats did, and yet the young democracy of Pennsylvania hissed him!

Why is Mr Randall "no democrat" in the minds of the young democrats of Pennsylvania? Because he is not a free trader! He is a tariff reformer—one who would reform the tariff without destroying the protective feature, and that is why Samuel J. Randall was hissed. Hissed by young men who seem to know nothing whatever of the history of the tariff legislation of the country. Hissed by young men who seem to be in dark ignorance in regard to the history of the tariff in their own state. Hissed by young democrats who ought to know that free trade means freedom among the workingmen of their state, and other states, as well, to starve.

Before such young democrats begin to hiss a man like Mr. Randall, whose preserved character, learning, service to his country, demand the respect of all men, they should gain a little wisdom by reading up on the principles of American protection. And above all things else these young Pennsylvania democrats should learn to have at least a little stock of manly sense.

WITH THE FUNNY EDITOR.

The Circus Clown Has a Job Lot of Jokes to Dispose Of.

"Funny editor in?" asked a chalky-faced individual, whose solemn visage was made more pallid by a weed-bound white hat.

"Yes, that man over there reading the book of sermons."

The visitor wheeled around like a machine, and in two moments doubled himself down into a chair beside the reader.

"Funny man?" said he.

"Funny! No! dull as dishwater," said the other, throwing down the book.

"You don't understand——" began the visitor.

"Don't understand? How do you know that I don't understand, you son of an undertaker? I——"

"No. I mean to say I'm in the ring and I——"

"The deuce you are. New York boodle ring? Just back from Canada, eh?"

"No, sir," was the reply of the chalky-faced man, "my canvas hasn't been in Canada. I——"

"Canvas! Well, it's no use for book agents to come canvassing here; you can not make a sale."

"Of course I can not, as I'm not a sail maker, although I'm used to being under canvas. I'm going to see——"

"Going to sea? Ah, sailor, are you?"

"Sailor? No. I came in to see if I couldn't take something off your hands that——"

"Oh, manicure. No, sir, nothing but two warts, and don't want those taken off."

"Manicure? No, sir. The man I cure is generally a low-spirited one. There's a joke for your paper; now will you please exchange with me a few——"

"Exchange? Oh, newspaper man, eh? Well, that red-headed man with the big scissors over there is the exchange editor."

"Say, young man," said the visitor, "why will you not wait till I tell you what I want?"

"Been trying to find that out ever since you came in," said the scribbler. "You may be a bright man outside, but a clown in an editor's room——"

"Ah! I see you've found me out."

"Hope to do so when I return this call."

"Well, you must pay fifty cents to find me in. I am a clown in the circus."

"Sir, excuse me," said the scribbler, rising. "I mistook you for a funny contemporary."

"Dear me, what a mistake. I'm in the ring under the canvas most of the time, and being a little out of stock, was going to see if you had not some jokes on hand you would like to exchange or have taken off your hands."

"My dear sir, you are just the man we have been looking for. We have a choice lot of original contributions in that line, and would like to reduce the stock. For instance, here are forty-two versions of the fellow and girl at the garden gate, thirty-six variations of the old man and dog interrupting the lovers, and——"

The visitor's visage paled visibly.

"Well, then," continued the scribbler, "here's 108 turns on her 'bein' a sister to him,' hardly any of 'em been used more than two or three times."

The visitor picked up his hat and edged toward the door.

"Then here's a job lot about actors walking the road, and the man riding with a girl and driving with one hand."

Great drops of perspiration stood on the circus man's forehead as the editor followed him to the head of the stairs and held out another package, saying:

"I don't mind parting with these squibs about 'hotel clerks' diamonds,' and if you will take the lot I'll——"

But he said no more. There was a sudden rush, a leap, a sound of hurrying feet, as the white-hatted man vanished down the staircase.

The paragrapher stared for a moment, and then returning, applied to the managing editor for a pass that night to the circus to look up something new for the funny column.

Was in a Great Hury.

The other evening a citizen who stood at the corner of Woodward and Jefferson avenues was asked by a stranger for a nickel to pay car fare up Michigan avenue.

"You look able to walk," was the reply.

"So I am; but I'm in a great hurry."

"It strikes me as pretty cheeky for a tramp to beg money to ride on when his legs are all right."

"My dear man, this is an exceptional case. I was up that avenue to-day, and met a citizen who pitied my forlorn condition. He didn't have any boodle with him just then, but promised to give me fifty cents if I would meet him at the corner of Fifteenth street at 9 o'clock. It is now 8:30. I can't make it on foot. If I don't get a nickel I'm gone up for that half. Please look at the case with a business eye and favor me with the loan."

He was favored, and he got on the front end of a car, so as to get there seventeen feet ahead of the rear platform.

How to Carry a State.

Great Politician—Say, I'm out of a job, and if you rich temperance folks will subscribe the funds, I'll carry this State for prohibition.

Wealthy Prohibitionist (delighted)—You will? How much do you want?

"About a hundred thousand."

"You won't use it for bribes, I hope?"

"No, siree; that's agin the law. I'll just distribute it among the boys, an' it won't be used fer anything but treatin'."

ONE advantage of electing John L. Sullivan to Congress would be that he would introduce the Marquis of Queensberry rules into that body, which would be an improvement on the present rules.

LOCAL politics run high in the Western country. A candidate for County Clerk in Texas offered to register marriages for nothing. His opponent, undismayed, promised to do the same and throw a cradle in.

FRANK BOWMAN KILLED.

A NOTORIOUS ST. LOUIS LAWYER MURDERED.

Shot Down While Levying on His Murderer's Property---An Unsavory Career Ended---Other Crimes.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 22.—At 1:15 Monday B. M. Chambers shot and instantly killed Frank J. Bowman at Ferguson, Mo. Both are well known in St. Louis. Bowman was an attorney here for several years, and made anything but a favorable reputation. The killing grew out of the trouble between the parties over the old Times newspaper. Chambers was a large stockholder and principal owner of the paper up to the time of its demise. Bowman was also interested in it. He bought among other things the press franchise of the paper, and has been in litigation over the matter with Chambers ever since.

At the hour above mentioned, Frank J. Bowman, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Garrett, called at Mr. Chambers' house in Ferguson. His purpose was to levy an attachment on Chambers' life interest in his wife's estate, or whatever other property he might be able to find. Bowman said: "I have come to levy on your property." "All right," said Mr. Chambers and he entered the house. In a few moments he stepped out into the yard again, and he then had a double-barreled shot-gun in his hands

"Garrett, you get out of this place and get out quick," he said to the deputy sheriff. Garrett walked away. Then Mr. Chambers turned to Bowman and said:

"Now, Bowman, I'll give you three minutes to get out of these grounds."

Bowman did not move. In an instant Chambers raised the gun and poured the lead into Bowman's heart. The men were standing close together, and the full load took effect in Bowman's chest. He fell dead in the yard. Bowman never spoke, and died instantly.

Mr. Chambers walked into the house and quietly remained there awaiting arrest. He seemed very cool and collected after the killing, and did not appear to think he had done anything but what he had a right to do.

Bowman was one of the best known men in St. Louis, although his reputation was very unsavory. He practiced law for many years here, but removed about three years ago to New York. Previous to his going he figured in a couple of very shameful scandals. He sued his wife for divorce and afterward compromised the suit on her cross bill, paying her a large sum of money. Shortly after it was given out that he had married a woman in the East. As soon as this became known, a Chicago woman, who claimed a common law marriage with Bowman, sued him for divorce in Chicago. He fought the case hard, but the courts decided the Chicago woman was his wife and gave her the divorce. This left Bowman very much mixed up matrimonially. Bowman was at one time prominent at the local bar, but he was disbarred several years ago for crooked practices and since then he has largely forfeited the esteem of respectable persons.

Chambers and Bowman have been at daggers' ends for years. Chambers was formerly president of the Butchers' and Drovers' bank, of this city, but became a bankrupt twelve years ago. He has since enjoyed a big income from his wife's estate. The levy was on a judgment twelve years old.

NOTABLE FORGERY TRIAL.

Experts Summoned from All Over the Country.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 22.—The trial of J. Frank Collom began in the District court Monday before Judge Hooker. Some of the most distinguished forgery experts in the United States will be present. Among them are Dr. R. U. Pifer of Washington who testified in the Sharon-Hill divorce case; D. M. Carvalho of New York, Albert S. Southworth of Boston, E. B. Hay of Washington, F. W. Holbrook and Dr. Boyne of Chicago. The leading witness for the prosecution is D. T. Ames of New York.

The case will be the most remarkable ever tried in Hennepin county. The leading counsel for Collom is the Hon. E. M. Wilson, assisted by Judge M. B. Koon, Judge J. M. Shaw, and C. J. Rockwood, the law partner of the defendant. It is understood that F. F. Davis will assist County Attorney Robert Jamieson in the prosecution.

Lynchers Escape an Indictment.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 22.—The Carson county grand jury, which has been investigating the lynching of Jim Averill and Ella Watson, adjourned Saturday until the 24th instant without returning indictments against those accused of the lynching. The only witness to the lynching, a young man named Buchanan, has forfeited his bail and disappeared. The men accused of the lynching are wealthy cattle-owners and ranchmen whose herds had been robbed by Averill and the Watson woman. It is probable that no indictments will be found.

Preferred Death to Poverty.

JACKSON, Mich., Oct. 22.—Saturday night Mrs. Cynthia Jones took morphine, and, after lying dead thirty-six hours, her body was discovered. She secured a room last week and tried to earn money canvassing for a book on the Johnstown flood. She did not meet with encouragement. She pawned her cloak and shawls for money to buy bread. No one had a kind word or offered to assist her, though she was over 60 years old and a good woman.

A Would-Be Jury-Briber Punished.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 22.—Judge Gartner of the Wayne Circuit court found William W. Langdon guilty of contempt in attempting to bribe the jury in the case of Hughes vs. the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee railway company, and sentenced him to six months' imprisonment and fined him $250, which is the maximum penalty. Judge Gartner regretted that the law did not provide a more severe punishment for the crime.

Cadets Court-Martialed for Hazing.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 22.—A court-martial has been convened at the Naval academy with the following members: Lieutenant - Commanders Lentze and Walker, with Lieut. Wainwright as Judge Advocate. Edgar Arison of Pennsylvania and Herbert E. McReavy of Washington Territory, both of the third class, are accused. They required certain cadets to stand on their heads.

Mexico's Stolen Bonds.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 21.—It is now stated that the amount of government bonds recently stolen had a face value of only $1,250,000 and that they bore the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury but not the Treasurer's. As they are not properly signed nor sealed the government will not be responsible.

An Arizona Treasurer Decamps.

TUSCON, Arz., Oct 22.—George H. Stevens, treasurer of the penitentiary board, has decamped. He failed to put in an appearance at the quarterly meeting of the board, and was found to be short over $6,000 in his acounts. Diligent inquiries for two weeks have failed to discover his whereabouts. When last heard from he was at Tacoma, W. T.

TWENTY YEARS FOR HIS CRIME.

Charles Stelitz Sentenced for His Murder of Solomon French.

MARINETTE, Wis., Oct. 22.—Charles Stelitz, convicted last week of murder in the second degree for the killing of Solomon Felch in Florence county Sept. 20, was brought before Judge Hastings Monday for sentence. With the customary remarks on the grave nature of the crime of which the prisoner was convicted the judge sentenced Stelitz to twenty years' imprisonment in the penitentiary at hard labor, with the usual days in solitary confinement. Stelitz received the sentence with stoical indifference. He will be taken to Waupun at once. He is 22 years old

Only One Juror Lacking.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—At the opening of court in the Cronin murder case this morning only one juror remained to be secured. The defense still have three peremptory challenges and the State twenty-three. Until all the peremptories of the defense are exhausted it is improbable the remaining juror will be secured.

An Ex-Editor Indicted.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The Cook county grand jury has found indictments against James J. West and Charles E. Graham for the fraudulent issue of stock of the Chicago Times company.

THE GREAT STRIKE ENDED.

LaSalle, Ogelsby, and Peru Miners Agree to Work---A Slight Advance Granted.

LASALLE, Ill., Oct. 22.—After nearly six months of idleness the miners here have finally got their differences with the operators settled and work was resumed to-day. Some days ago the miners agreed to accept 82½ cents a ton for mining and do twenty inches of brushing in the LaSalle, Oglesby, and Peru mines, but the mule-drivers who haul the coal from the place where it is dug to the hoisting shaft and the men employed other than miners went out on a strike when they were required to accept a reduction in their wages proportionate to that accepted by the miners. This last difficulty was adjusted Saturday on the basis of $1.75 a day for the drivers and $1.90 a day for the company men. Monday the mules were lowered into the different shafts, and as their right to strike is not recognized the presumption is that the strike season is over in these parts.

The advantage of the miners from the six months' idleness has been that they got a raise of 2½ cents a ton above that offered them May 1, supplemented by what they may consider the gain from sticking to their "principles."

BIG STRIKE OF SWITCHMEN.

Louisville & Nashville Railroad Men Determined to Have Better Pay.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 22.—What it is feared may yet prove to be the beginning of a general strike on the Louisville & Nashville and the Mackey system of railroads centering here was inaugurated in the Louisville & Nashville freight yards Monday afternoon. The strike was confined Monday to the Louisville & Nashville employes only, but their leader states that the Mackey system switchmen have promised to quit work. If they do through traffic will effectually be suspended. It is reported that the strike here is generally at the principal points on the Louisville & Nashville system, including St. Louis, Memphis, Nashville Birmingham, and other places. The grievance asserted by the strikers is that they have not been receiving standard pay—which is $2.25 per day, while they have only been getting $2. The strike was as surprising as sudden, no intimation of it having been given by any kind of publicity until it was an accomplished fact.

Work of the Episcopalians.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—At the Episcopal convention the bishops notified the house of deputies that they could not concur with them in adjourining on Thursday, Oct. 24, and asked for a committee on conference. It was appointed. The house concurred with the bishops on the third section. Several unimportant changes were made.

The last amendment adopted by the house of bishops, providing for changes in the consecration of bishops, was adopted.

The report in favor of ceding a portion of the diocese of Michigan and making it a missionary diocese was adopted.

Sporting Matters.

At the opening day of the Lexington running meeting Kate Malone, Mary Mac, Zulu, and Dollikins were the victors.

At Chicago Hornpipe, G. W. Cook, Fan King, Cast Out, and Spalding took first money.

At Elizabeth, N. J., Swift, Huntress, Robespierre, J. A. B., Hop filly, and Stephanie were the victors.

The third ball game in the championship series between New York and Brooklyn was postponed on account of wet grounds.

Sunday Law at Indianadolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 22.—A quiet movement is on foot to secure the enforcement of the Sunday law against all classes of business. For a long time saloons and barber-shops have been under the ban. Sunday a clothing merchant was arrested, but the case was dismissed to-day on a technicality. The chief of police has instructed his men to arrest all violators of the law next Sunday. The Supreme court has held that drug stores, newsstands and cigar stores may remain open.

Will Not Sign League Contracts.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Monday was the day for the renewal of League contracts with its players. In this city not one of the players except Anson would sign. Reports from other League cities show a similar state of affairs, and the League club managers were told by the men that no contracts would be executed till the troubles between the League and the Brotherhood were settled.

New York Greenback Nomination.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The greenback party held a convention Monday and renominated the following State ticket. For secretary of State, the Rev. Thomas K. Beecher of Elmira; comptroller, John B. Sullivan of Westchester; treasurer, Joseph Madison Hall of Hamilton; attorney-general, Joseph Wright of Weedsport. The nomination for State engineer will be made later.

P. S.--There is more truth in the following few lines than poetry:

The would be competitor stood on the walk in front of his shabby old store,
He watched the big bundles of Clothing rolling out of his competitor's door,
He watched so long till his eyes grew dim and at once began to dazzle,
He then called his confidential clerk to give his competitor a razzle.
This meek young man his best he tried to serve his Sir's command,
But incompetency on his part made our clothing in big demand.

What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone, for scrofula combines the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. For all affections of the blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled, and some of the cures it has effected are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula in any of its various forms, be sure to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

THE WASHINGTON BUDGET

A DAY'S NEWS AT THE NATION'S CAPITAL.

Governor Wolooley of Arizona Makes His Annual Report—Gen. Raum at His Desk—Gossip.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Gov. Wolley of Arizona has transmitted his annual report to Secretary Noble. It estimates the total population at 609,443, and at the last election it states 11,538 votes were cast.

The Governor notes the falling off in mining and an increase in agricultural pursuits all over the Territory. He attacks the Mormon element, and says morally and politically they are unwelcome and dangerous, and their teachings and practices are against all established Christian law. He charges them with sending colonies into adjacent Territories in order to hold the balance of political power between the two parties, and thus perpetuate their creed. In 1884 he says they voted for a Republican delegate in Congress, but in 1886 and in 1888 they supported the Democratic candidate.

The taxable property in the Territory is placed at about $30,000,000, an increase of $3,000,000 in the last year. The total territorial debt is $752,000.

The report recommends the issuing of fifty-year territorial bonds. During the year over 500,000 acres of land were settled upon. The lack of railroad facilities proves a great trouble to the advance of the Territory.

In the Salt river valley hay worth $6 per ton, bailed, 100 miles away brings from $20 to $40 per ton, owing to the lack of transportation facilities. In Phœnix lumber is worth $45 to $60 per thousand, while less than 200 miles away it can be purchased for $12 to $16 a thousand. All told there are only 1,096 miles of railroad in the territory.

Stock-raising is the principle industry, and is being largely pursued.

GEN. RAUM IN THE SADDLE.

Corporal Tanner's Successor In Charge of the Pension Office.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Gen. Green B. Raum Monday sat in the chair lately occupied by Corporal Tanner at the pension office. The new commissioner was at his office promptly at 9 o'clock and assumed control quietly. He had taken the oath of office Saturday and also met the subordinate officers of the office. This morning he met a number of friends who called to pay their respects and made a tour of the different divisions to see the methods of procedure employed in each. He has not yet appointed his confidential secretary, that place being still held by Miss Ada Tanner, the daughter of the late commissioner.

The Marine Conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The international marine conference continued its session to-day. A resolution was passed unanimously declaring "that it is the sense of the conference that there shall be no change in the masthead and colored lights as at present used."

A committee was appointed to prepare all available literature on lights and sound signals in shape to be easily considered by the conference. During the discussion of fog signals a suggestion was made that a code of musical signals of two or three notes, to be produced by whistles or fog horns, be adopted.

Inspectors Knocked Out of Their Jobs.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The announcement is made at the Treasury department that in view of the fact that examination has shown that the evident controlling reason in many cases for the anxiety to secure the post of inspector of foreign vessels is the limited work such inspectors have to perform, Mr. Windom has decided, for the sake of economy, and good administration, to dispense with the services of such inspectors at Philadelphia, New Orleans and San Francisco, and have their duties performed by local inspectors.

Registrars of Land Offices.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The President has appointed the following Registrars of Land Offices: Samuel P. McCrea, of New Mexico, at Las Creces, N. M.; William McCracken, of Missouri, at Booneville, Mo.; Webb McHall, of Kansas, at Kirwin, Kas.; James Elton, of Dakota, at Grand Forks, Dak.; William M. Berger, of New Mexico, at Santa Fe., N. M.

Oliver F. Williams of New York has been appointed United States consul at Havre, France.

A Mortar of Forged Steel.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The board of ordnance and fortifications, at its present session, sanctioned the project of making a 12-inch breech loading mortar entirely of forged steel. This will be something of a blow to the advocates of forged steel.

Capital Notes.

SECRETARY TRACY is considering the question of giving the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius another trial.

SUPERINTENDENT PORTER of the census bureau has appointed Charles H. Cooley of Michigan a special agent of the bureau for the collection of railway statistics. Mr. Cooley is a son of Judge Cooley of the inter-State commerce commission.

MAJOR-GEN. CROOK, Col. Thomas F. Barr, military secretary to Secretary Proctor, and Major Robert H. Hall, acting inspector-general of the department of Arizona, commissioners of the military prison of the United States at Fort Leavenworth, will meet at the prison Oct. 29 to make the semi-annual inspection.

ABNER TAYLOR MARRIED.

The Illinois Congressman Elopes with Col. A. C. Babcock's Daughter.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The friends of Congressman Taylor of the First district may be surprised somewhat at the intelligence, now made public for the first time, that the statesman has taken unto himself a wife, and furthermore that there is an interesting story thereunto belonging. In fact, Mr. Taylor's wedding has all the elements of romance—love, unrelenting opposition by the stern male parent, clandestine coolings, flight, secret vows plighted before an unknown and cloaked priest, and at last reconciliation with the aforesaid parent.

The lady in the case is the daughter of Col. A. C. Babcock, well-known as a politician in this city and at present a prominent candidate for the United States marshalship for the district of northern Illinois. Mr. Taylor has for a long time been assiduous in his suit for the hand of Miss Babcock, but his attentions were unhappily frowned down by the Colonel.

But Cupid's arrows were never known to shiver on paternal anger and Col. Babcock one morning awoke to receive the tidings that the congressman and his daughter were wedded in a little town in Michigan on the 7th of September last and that now it was all too late. Bride and bridegroom enjoyed the honeymoon in obscure felicity until quite recently, when they returned to Chicago. Here they spent a few days, and Monday they left Chicago to reside at Washington.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painfull illness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alternative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of the kidneys, liver or stomach, of long short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50. and $1 per bottle at F. THE NATION'S GUESTS.

Second Day of the Pan-American Excursionists in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The second day of the visit of the delegates to the International congress was spent in sight seeing. Taking a special train at 10 o'clock in the morning the visitors, accompanied by the local reception committee, paid a visit to the McCormick reaper works, where a hurried visit was paid to the principal departments. As the visitors departed from the manufacturing establishment the various machines were exhibited in operation.

Swift's packing house, next visited, was decorated with flags and bunting. The first sight of the butchering process was not a welcome one to several of the visitors, among them two members of the Argentine Republic delegation, who had to retire. All parts of the business were shown. From the butchering rooms the party was taken to the cutting department. The same program was observed at Libby, McNeill & Libby's, adjoining, and at the packing house of Nelson Morris. At 12 o'clock the strangers reached Armour's. The pig massacre was hugely enjoyed by most of the delegates, though a few were seasick. Dr. Guzman of Nicaragua said the work was too extensive and rapid to realize its greatness in so short a time.

Noon whistles were tooting when the party left Armour's place for Pullman. Lunch was served on the train. Upon arrival at the village, George M. Pullman, George H. Brown, Stephen Little, G. H. Gray, H. H. Session, J. S. Runnels and Dr. O'Chasey greeted the guests. The car depot, carpenter shops, big Corliss engine, blacksmith shops, water tower and freight shops were all looked at and favorably commented upon. Then a special train pulled the visitors around the town, allowing them to see the gas works, pavilion and lake front. The street car shops were examined next. Then in turn the hotel, library and theater. At the latter place, Mr. Runnels introduced Duane Doty, who spoke to the assembly.

Adjourning from the theater the party rode to South Park station, where they entered carriages and were driven to Jackson park, then to Washington park. Passing successively through Drexel, Oakland, and Grand boulevards they rode down Michigan avenue to Adams street and then to the postoffice. The delegates dined at 6 o'clock and in the evening attended a reception at Potter Palmer's, where they met the most socially prominent people of the city.

The party comprises some forty as delegates, alternates and other representatives, besides newspaper correspondents. The delegates credited from the several governments are given below:

Mexico—Matias Romera and Angel Ortizly Monasterio.
Guatemala—Fernando Cruz.
Honduras—Jeronimo Zelaya.
Nicaragua—Horacio Guzman.
Costa Rica—Pedro Zeledon and Manual Aragon.
San Salvidor—Jacinto Castellanos and Manuel Valdivieso.
Columbia—J. M. Hurtado, Carlos Martinez de Silva and C. Calderon.
Ecuador—Jose Maria Placido Caamano.
Boulivia—Juan F. Verlarae.
Peru—F. C. C. Zegarra.
Chili—Jose Alfonso and Emilio C. Varas.
Argentine Republic — Vincente G. Quesada, Roque Saenz Pena, and Manuel Quintana.
Uruquay—Alberto Nin.
Brazil—J. G. de Amaral Valente, Lafayette Rodriguez Pereira, and Salvador de Mendonca.
Venezuela—Nicanor Bolet Peraza.

PROTESTANTS AND CATHOLICS.

They Are Again Quarreling in Boston—Anderson's History the Cause.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 22.—The dispute between the Catholics and Protestants of Boston, which was last year carried into local politics and which brought out nearly 25,000 female voters, may be revived this fall.

The Boston committee of 100 some time since sent letters to President Warren of the Boston university; Prof. Sheldon, the well-known historian; the Rev. Dr. A. A. Miner, the Rev. Dr. E. E. Hals, and the Rev. James M. Gray, asking them to make a careful examination of "Anderson's General History," now in use in the Boston public schools, and to report upon it. They report, first, that "This history is a partisan and Romanized production. Its author, in a letter published in the Boston Daily Advertiser, distinctly admits that the last edition was revised to meet the requirements of the Roman Catholic critics."

They then quote at length passages from the book now in use, comparing them with corresponding passagas in the original work, as indicating the purpose of the author to remove the language and matter objectionable to Catholics. They also find that this history omits all detailed reference to the United States, "thus failing to set this country in its proper relations to other countries," reads the report.

The discussion will be started at a meeting of the school board Tuesday evening on an order offered last week to substitute another history for Anderson's book.

GOV. FORAKER'S CONDITION.

A Belief that He Will Not Be Able to Speak Again During the Campaign.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—Gov. Foraker is resting easier but there is very little improvement in his condition. The physician states there is no likelihood of serious results. The treatment which he received to-day was not expected to have any immediate effect on his system, and the meager signs of improvement are attributed to this fact. The Governor was threatened with peritonitis, but there is no longer any danger to fear from that source, but his bowel complaint has left him weak, and he has suffered greatly from the severe cold which he contracted. It is believed had he continued in the campaign another day his case would have been hopeless. He contracted his cold at Sandusky Thursday night but it did not develop till Friday, when he hurried home. His most critical period was Saturday. All of his engagements in the campaign for this week have been canceled or filled by other speakers and there is some doubt whether he will be able to appear in the campaign again. Since the opening at Xenia, Sept. 7, Foraker has made one and two speeches each day and on two or three days as high as four at different points. He has made about sixty speeches in all.

Many Moulders Strike.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 22.—The molders of this district struck Monday for 10 per cent advance in wages. About 800 men are out. Two firms, Carnegie, Phipps & Co., and A. Speer & Co., have granted the advance and the men have gone to work.

Snow Fall at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 21.—There was a slight flurry of snow in Minneapolis Monday morning, scarcely enough, however, to be noticeable. A Fergus Falls (Minn.) dispatch said the ground was covered with snow and it was still falling.

"THE GREAT CORN PALACE."

The committees that have in charge the arrangements for the coming Corn Palace at Sioux City, promise a display fare exceeding anything of the character heretofore attempted. The Corn Palace itself, built entirely of corn and grain, will fitly illustrate the agricultural resources of the vast area of country tributary to Sioux City, and the internal displays will epitomize the progress and enterprise of the hosts of earnest workers who are pushing the developement of that favored region in which "Corn is King."

To enable all to vist this "Eighth Wonder of the World," the Chicago & Northwestern Railway will sell Excursion tickets to Sioux City at half rate: or one fare for the round trip.

The Corn Palace will be open September 23d, and close October 5th, and during that period numerous special trains will be run for the accommodation of visitors.

Tickets and full information can be obtained on application to agents of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company.

THE HORRORS OF FAMINE.

SUFFERINGS OF THE EARNMOOR'S BOAT'S CREW.

Eighteen of the Hands Lost—Michigan Iron Mines Caving In—The Casualty Record.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 22.—The seven survivors of the steamer Earnmoor, which foundered at sea when 300 miles off Turk's Island, have arrived in this city and tell a story of terrible suffering. The Earnmoor struck a terrible gale Sept. 4, which increased in force, and at 11:30 a. m. the following day the vessel gave a lurch and foundered. As the steamer sank the port lifeboat floated off from the ship. The second officer, second and third engineers, four sailors, three firemen, and the cook clung to the boat and scrambled in.

An effort was made to save the rest of the crew, and a drag was made of the painter, but the boat was blown away and the oars wrested from the hands of the men so that no more could be saved. The cries of the drowning men, as they were dashed about by the mountainous waves, could be heard by the men in the boat. The boat drifted into the gulf stream and the air was warm; but this increased the intensity of their thirst.

"The horrors of hunger on the second day became awful," said Carl Crane, one of the survivors, today "and it increased as time wore on. We managed to pick up sea-weed, which gave us a little nutriment and on the third day a flying-fish was caught. This was immediately cut up into a portion for each man and devoured. We also captured a sea-bat and sucked its blood, and then ate the flesh after it had dried in the sun. The first man to die was a seaman named William Robinson and the second was the third engineer, Thomas Hunt. One night while we were all asleep, except a German fireman named Flagge, who was on watch, he suddenly became insane and jumped overboard. We were too weak to save him. We were without a compass, and steered by the sun by day and by the stars by night. Eleven vessels passed us. One, a British bark, we were certain saw us, and deliberately left us to our fate When 300 miles off Hatteras we were picked up by a schooner. I can not describe in words our joy at the sight of this deliverance. We were so weak that we had to be lifted upon the vessel's deck, and one of our men, Ed Johnson, a Norwegian, fell overboard and was drowned."

The Earnmoor was largely owned in this city. The following is a list of those who were lost:

RICHARD J. GRAY, master.
A. PAINTER, first mate.
H. SOULAS, first engineer.
THOMAS HUNT, third engineer.
W. DUMMER, boatswain.
STEPHEN PERRY, steward, all of Philadelphia.
JAMES DURAND, mess boy.
ROBERT JOHNSON.
CARD J. JURKEISEN.
EDWARD JOHNSON.
WILLIAM ROBINSON.
JAMES C. HYSIATUDE.
AMEDEE LEAGENOIRE, sailors.
A. FLAGGE, fireman.
HEINRICH MASSAT, fireman.
JAMES SINCLAIR, fireman.
HERMAN TONGE, fireman, all of Baltimore.

Those who were saved are: H. Stone, second mate, and Thomas Metorum, second engineer, of Philadelphia, and William Wright, cook, and William Davis, Ludwig Leder, Carl Crane, A. Koster, fireman, of Baltimore.

BIG FOREST FIRES IN WISCONSIN.

Reports from Black River Falls of Vast Damage to Property.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., Oct. 22.—Forest fires are doing a large amount of damage just west of here, many acres of young timber being destroyed. As everything is dry as tinder, buildings, hay, and grain stacks are in danger. The air is so full of smoke that it is oppressive. One farmer named Knistring lost all his hay and straw and barely saved his house and barn. Word comes from Chippewa Falls that forest fires along the railroads are spreading rapidly in all directions around the settlements. As yet no buildings have been destroyed. Timber is being damaged to a considerable extent. The smoke throughout the country is stifling.

NINE BUILDINGS ENGULFED.

Peculiar and Damaging Upheaval of Nature at Negaunee, Mich.

NEGAUNEE, Mich., Oct. 22.—Last Saturday night the ground over the South Buffalo mine began sinking. The movement was at first confined to a few square feet, but gradually extended until the Queen mine was also affected. Several acres of ground have sunk from ten to fifteen feet. The movement still continues and nine buildings, railroad tracks, and trees were engulfed. All miners quit work underground and are now employed on the surface removing material from over the dangerous ground. The extent of the damage can not be estimated until the caving in stops and nothing can be done to prevent the continuance of it, but the loss will be very heavy.

Buried Beneath a Mass of Rock.

NEGAUNEE, Mich., Oct. 22.—A cave-in occurred in one of the pits of the Jackson mine shortly after 1 o'clock Monday. The heavy timber was crushed by the weight of the superincumbent mass of rock and sand, and gave way without warning. Jerry Thomas and David Bamford were caught under the rock. Thomas was rescued, badly hurt, a few hours later, and Bamford was taken out dead.

Run Over and Killed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Miss Jaeger, aged 19 years and a resident of Lawndale, was killed this morning by a suburban train on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway. The young lady had gone to the depot for the purpose of taking the train to come into the city, and in some unknown manner was run over.

Drowned While Crossing a Lake.

NEWAYGO, Mich., Oct. 22.—James Eddie, Henry Murray, and Gus Halley, woodsmen in the employ of Ryerson, Hill & Co., Saturday in crossing the lake to the camp were capsized. Eddie and Murray, both unmarried, were drowned. Eddie was from Muskegon and Murray from Big Rapids.

Fifty Families Burned Out.

OTTAWA, Canada, Oct. 22.—Nearly all the dwellings and stores bounded by Broad, St. Wood, Ottawa, and Queen streets were destroyed by fire yesterday. Fifty families were rendered homeless. The buildings were of a very inferior character, and the total loss will not exceed $15,000.

Fire at St. Charles, Ill.

ELGIN, Ill, Oct. 22.—The Bignall foundry at St. Charles was burned Monday morning. The fire is supposed to have been started by incendiaries and the loss is about $20,000. A large number of men are thrown out of employment.

Herculean Strength

Continually on the strain, or overtaxed at intervals, is far less desirable than ordinary vigor perpetuated by rational diet and exercise, and abstention from excess. Professional pugilists and athletes rarely attain extreme old age. As ordinary vigor may be retained by a wise regard for sanitary living, and for the protection against disease which timely and judicious medication affords, so also it may be lost through prolonged sedentary labor, uninterrupted mental strain, and foolish eating and drinking, the chief and most immediate sequence of all four being dyspepsia. For this condition thus, or in any way induced, and for its offspring, a failure of muscular and nerve power, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the primest and most genial of remedies. Not only indigestion, but loss of flesh, appetite and sleep are remedied by it. Incipient malaria, and rheumatism are banished, bowels and liver complaint removed by it.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. 25c a bottle.

HERE is an advertisement of Ivory Soap where they recommend it for toilet purposes. I thought it was a laundry soap.

It is, but it is so much better than the ordinary toilet soap that I use it for the bath altogether. Its floating properties are a great advantange, and after soaping yourself, all you have to do is to take a dip and the lather will disappear, leaving your skin as clean and fresh as can be.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

CLOSE OF THE NATIONAL LEAGUE SEASON.

Standing of the Clubs — In the Minor Leagues---The Season's Gains and Losses —Brotherhood Versus League---Among the Racers---Sporting Notes.

The National league championship season of 1889 has ended and never before in the history of baseball championship contests has the race been so close or so desperate. On the last Saturday noon Boston and New York were each confident of winning the pennant, while Chicago and Philadelphia were each as equally sure that the third place in the race was theirs. As the result of the last day's games New York steps over Boston's head and carries off the pennant; Chicago wrests third place from Philadelphia; Cleveland and Pittsburg stand tied for fifth place.

Without doubt the disappointment felt by lovers of the game and admirers of the team in Boston is bitter. With the highest salaried team in the circuit, and one of the most successful team managers in the country, Boston has made a strong effort to carry off champion honors. That the team was looked upon as a winner by nine out of ten baseball enthusiasts throughout the country is probably true, and none were more confident of victory than Manager Hart and his players. The sudden and unexplainable letdown of its strongest hitters, at a time when they should have been doing their best stick work, has beyond question hurt the team more than anything else, and is probably the principal cause of its defeat.

As between Boston and New York the greater credit is due the latter. Boston has at no time this season played ball under such disadvantages as the Giants have faced. Had Hart's aggregation been located on Manhattan island and the Giants at the Hub it is quite likely that Boston would not have been in the race during the last two weeks. There is little room for question as to which is the better team. In one point of play only has Boston been the equal of the Giants—its batting. When it comes to fielding, running bases, team work, and infield strength, the Gothamites are greatly the superiors of the Bostonians. It is safe to say that while Boston will to a great extent have the sympathy of baseball lovers everywhere, there are few who are not glad to see the Giants win their second successive league pennant.

Chicago is to be congratulated upon its brilliant finish. Without its team captain, and with its infield broken, the home team has played ball which would have won the pennant had it been begun during the first half of the season. There are many who at different stages of the race, when the outlook was anything but rosy for the Blacks, considered them out of the fight entirely, yet it is unlikely that these same prophets ever saw a cleaner game of baseball than the Chicago team put up during the last week of the championship season.

While the season has been a bright one from an artistic standpoint, it has been a disappointment financially to all but two clubs in the league circuit. Boston has made a great deal of money during the last six months, and Philadelphia has done well, but Washington, Indianapolis, and Pittsburg have lost, and neither New York nor Chicago, in the vernacular of the baseball magnate, "has made a dollar." This statement may, of course, be taken with a grain of allowance. Chicago may find itself with a few thousand dollars on the right side of the ledger, but such a gain as this is not looked upon as worth the season's trouble by baseball club magnates.

Had New York been able to play the season through upon the old polo grounds it would have made money this season, as it did last, but the expense of fitting up new grounds and the loss of patronage sustained during the weeks the team played upon Staten Island have more than offset the receipts of the season.

The poor showing Chicago made at the outset has had much to do with the comparatively light attendance at the home grounds, but the inclement weather has also eaten a big slice out of the Chicago receipts, as well as those of every other team in the circuit.

With Pittsburg's misfortunes the public is familiar, and the fact that Indianapolis and Washington, though at times playing brilliant ball, have been unable to make anything better of themselves than "tail enders," has been the cause of their poor attendance.

Cleveland, as a result of its brilliant work in the first half of the season, proved a drawing card, and before it began to take a tumble had guaranteed itself against loss, although it will probably not now declare any large dividends.

From present indications the winter will not lack activity in baseball circles. Beyond question a determined effort will be made by league players during the coming months to complete and strengthen a circuit composed of brotherhood clubs which will next season compete for patronage with the clubs of the National league. If they are successful, next season will inaugurate a baseball war which can only end with the ruin of either the league or the brotherhood. Meantime the league will have much important legislation to carry through. A not improbable change will be discussed in the league circuit by which Cincinnati and Brooklyn may take the places of Washington and Indianapolis in the league next season.

Of the minor organizations of the country the International and Western associations have been fairly successful. In the circuit of the latter, Minneapolis, which last year lost $8,000 and dropped out of the race, has proved a phenomenon, and is said to have cleared close upon $20,000. St. Paul is said to have cleared $6,000, Milwaukee $4,000, and Omaha $1,000. But for the sale of Crooks to Columbus, however, the pennant winners would have been losers. Denver quits with $2,000 in pocket, while Des Moines loses $4,000, Sioux City $6,000, and St. Joseph $6,000.

The International association championship season has ended. Detroit won the pennant rather easily.

League Against Brotherhood.

The Minneapolis story about the brotherhood wanting St. Paul and Minneapolis to take the places of Washington and Indianapolis in the United Business Association league of 1890 is not true. Brooklyn and Buffalo have been selected for the vacancies to be created. There was never any idea of putting a brotherhood team in Detroit, although "Buck" Ewing did propose a descent on Cincinnati. If a northern team should be taken in St. Paul would be preferred, but Buffalo is a certainty and so almost is Brooklyn.

Some of the Brooklyn club players are likely to join the brotherhood and repudiate Brooklyn's reserve this fall. Some of the St. Louis men will certainly do so. There is no longer any doubt that the brotherhood's revolt will spread to the association and that a desperate base ball war will result. The brotherhood can only avert it by retracting its steps and resolving upon a policy of strict non-interference and respect for American association contracts. The better element is beginning to favor this idea. If the association is raided there is a strong probability that the stronger clubs in it will combine with the stronger clubs in the league for a fight against the brotherhood and that but one league will oppose the brotherhood next season, with a 25-cent admission fee to games, and clubs in New York, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Pittsburg, and either Cleveland or St. Louis. The players of the St. Louis team are so sore at this time that the first break in their ranks may result in all the men throwing off the ties of reservation.

The league policy at this time is that of filling the brotherhood men's places with the best young players to be obtained and playing at cheaper rates so as to diminish or wipe out all possible profits for the brotherhood teams and thus bring dissensions into their ranks.

That the idea of a league and association alliance against the brotherhood is held cropped out in a recent talk with President Aaron Stern of the Cincinnati club. He said: "If the league should ask me to take Indianapolis' place I would do it."

The brotherhood men have only one reason to offer for concealing their plans. It is a belief that if the league people knew the extent of the revolt they would terminate the present contracts at the end of the championship season, instead of Nov. 1, and that thereby members of the brotherhood would suffer financial losses at a bad time. This argument is not good, for the reason that the courts would oblige the various clubs to pay their players for the full term covered by the contracts.

Some Interesting Correspondence.

In connection with the recent disclosures in regard to the movements of the brotherhood the following correspondence between A. G. Spalding and John M. Ward is not without interest:

In the latter part of June Mr. Spalding received a letter from the brotherhood stating that there were certain grievances which they wished to lay before the league.

A committee of three, with Mr. Spaulding as chairman, was appointed for the purpose of meeting the brotherhood committee. Mr. Spaulding suggested that the meeting be deferred till the close of the league season. The matter was allowed to drop and the brotherhood claimed that the league was unwilling to give them a hearing. Mr. Spalding's letter, with Mr. Ward's reply, are given below and explain the situation:

"John M. Ward, President Players' Brotherhood, Tremont House, City—DEAR SIR: Referring to my letter to you of July 2 I find the following expression: "'I would suggest that the meeting of the two committees be deferred until after the close of the championship season, or until the annual meeting of the league, the exact time and place of such meeting to be decided upon as the time approaches.'

"In accordance with the suggestion quoted above, I will be pleased to have you name a date when it will be convenient for your committee to meet the league committee and consider the suggestion for which this committee was appointed. A. G. SPALDING, "Chairman League Committee."

"A. G. Spaulding, Esq.—MY DEAR SIR: I am in receipt of your communication of the 27th. Last May the brotherhood appointed a committee to present certain grievances to the league and attempt to have them righted. The committee was, however, unable to obtain a hearing from the league, and it so reported at a subsequent meeting of the brotherhood held July 14 and was according discharged. It was not a standing committee. I will refer your communication, therefore, to the entire brotherhood. Yours respectfully,

"JOHN M. WARD,
"President Brotherhood."

Possibly if Mr. Spaulding and his confreres had taken the complaints of the brotherhood into serious consideration when they were presented instead of cavalierly shoving them over to the close of the league season the present threatening trouble hight have been averted.

Bicycling Notes.

A school for lady riders in Brooklyn is doing a good business.

Buffalo claims to have more cyclers than Chicago. The city has twelve clubs and 3,000 wheelmen.

It is said that the Berkeley Athletic club will send its crack wheelmen to Europe next season.

There is some talk of reviving the Boston Bicycle club, one of the oldest and finest cycling clubs of the past.

Howell recently made a half-mile in one minute and fifteen seconds in an attempt to lower Temple's time of one minute and thirteen and one-fourth seconds.

Chairman Davol of the racing board of the League of American Wheelmen desires to have the league championships reduced to three, and to have them run at the annual meeting of the league.

M. Maurice Detroyat and M. Bertault left Paris Sept. 21 on velocipedes for a ride of 3,200 kilometers (about 1,987 miles). They will go from Paris to Belfort, Lucerne, Inspruck, Vienna, Munich, and return by the way of Strasbourg to Paris.

Twenty-five members of the Pennsylvania Bicycle club have run upwards of 50,000 miles this season, an average of about 2,000 miles each for the twenty-five, although some of them have ridden but 1,000, while others have run up a greater proportion.

At Bridlington, England, Sept. 9, W. Wood won a mile scratch in 2:49 from Howell and T. H. English. Howell won his heat in 2:39½. Howell won a ten-mile scratch in 31:01⅖ from Robb and T. H. English, making the last quarter in 0:34 3-5. James won a five mile match from A. Wood in 14:37⅗. A. H. Robb covered a half-mile in 1:12 2-5.

At the Surrey (England) meet, the following grass records were made: Starting quarter 0:37 2-5, M. M. Mayes; flying quarter 0:37 4-5, J. H. Adams; four miles, Bramson, 12:20 1-5; five miles, Hale, 15:34 1-5; six miles, Howard, 18:45 3-5; seven mile, Howard, 21:29; eight miles, Howard, 25:09 4-5; nine miles, Howard, 28:18 3-5; ten miles, Adams, 31:10.

At the British Surrey Bicycle club meeting at Kensington Oval, several grass records were altered and the performances all round proved to be first rate. J. N. Still of the Finchley Harriers did a mile on a safety on grass in 2 minutes and 58 1-5 seconds. E. M. Mayes, in the Sydney Challenge cup one lap race, did the distance in 33 2-5 seconds, beating Osmond's 40 seconds at Leyton in September, 1888. In the ten mile scratch race all grass records were cut from four miles to ten inclusive. J. H. Adams, F. P. Wood, E. M. Mayes was the order at the finish and the record times were: Bransom, four miles, 12 minutes 23 1-5 seconds; Hale, five miles, 15 minutes 34 1-5 seconds; Howard, six miles, 18 minutes 45 3-5 seconds; seven miles, 21 minutes 59 seconds; eight miles, 25 minutes 9 4-5 seconds; nine miles, 28 minutes 18 4-5 seconds; Adams, ten miles, 31 minutes, 10 seconds. Previous best ten miles on grass, Farnivall's, 32 minutes 36 4-5 seconds.

TO MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west: is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine-tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.

The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague, Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle and from Tacoma to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paying local fares from point to point.

The Northern Pacific is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles; to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days, according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.

In addition to being the only rail line to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the Northern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.

You want a newspaper at once convenient, complete and condensed, and still you don't want to overlook anything of real importance. You don't want your neighbor to say to you, "Did you read so-and-so in to-day's paper? and be obliged to answer, "No, I didn't see that," and then have him ask you, "What paper do you read?" D. J. CONCANNON.

—Reports come from Shopiere of depredations by horse thieves. On Sunday evening Mr. Weirick had a valuable horse taken while he was attending church, and last evening another horse was stolen from that village. Particulars not learned.

—Marshal Hogan received a dispatch this morning from Kenosha, stating that Fardy Murphy had been struck by a locomotive, and inquiring about his relatives. No particulars concerning the extent of Murphy's injuries were given, but it is thought he is seriously or fataly hurt.

—Petrick Skelly, aged 84 years, an old resident of the town of Rock, and well known by many in this city, died yesterday from the infirmities of old age. His funeral will take place at nine o'clock to-morrow morning from St. Patrick's church, Father McGinnity conducting the services.

—Mr. R. M. Bostwick is reaping the benefits of advertising. He has a heavy stock of choice goods and his announcement to sell at cost to reduce his stock, means just what he says. If you want a suit of clothes or anything in the way of gent's furnishing goods, it will pay you to call and examine stock.

—The Doty Works, Lewis Knitting Works, Marzluff Shoe Company, J. B. Green, and several other manufacturers have been obliged to call in Traction engines to furnish power while the water power company are overhauling their plant. The drougth is becoming very serious, and is causing much financial loss to farmers as well as manufacturers.

—The Rev. Dr. M. G. Hodge, of the Baptist church, is giving a series of sermons on Sunday evenings upon the "Great questions of the ages," which are very suggestive and profitable, full of rich thoughts and apt illustrations. The first was upon "God's revelation to man," the second in the series "Man's accountability to God," and the subject of last Sunday evening was "Man's responsibility to his fellow man," from the text "Where is they brother Abel?"

—Members of the Fortnightly Club and their friends will dedicate the newly finished residence of Walter Helms, 213 South Main street, on Friday evening of this week. This will not be a literary entertainment, but principally musical with "Jack" Tuckwood as leading artist, who will throw in enough literary now and then to make it interesting and lively. The Fortnightly club can get there on fun as well as literary work, and with such a genial host and hostess as Mr. and Mrs. Helms, a very pleasant evening is anticipated.

—A gentleman who had just returned from Northern Minnesota says that some of the farmers are obliged to draw water from two to three miles for stock. Many of the streams and lakes have dried up, and prairie fires are of every day occurance some of them very disastrious. The pete beds on the low ground have taken fire in some instances, and have burned for weeks, leaving a crust on the surface, with a bed of coals underneath. A man on horseback road into one of these concealed furnaces last Saturday and barely escaped with his life, losing his horse. The drought seems to be general throughout the Northwest and its results are becoming alarming.

The Extradition Bill May Hold.

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—The report that the Imperial Government has refused to assent to the Weldon extradition bill, passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament, is discredited in official circles. The story, it appears, was first told by an English-speaking reporter, who furnished it to the French papers in Montreal before sending it to the American newspapers.

OUR CITY GOVERNMENT.

Regular Meeting of the Common Council Last Evening.

PETITIONS AND PROTESTS

Against Selling Engines—The Slaughter Houses—To Build Sidewalks, Etc.

The common council convened in regular session last evening at the city hall. Mr. President Norris occupied the chair and all the aldermen answered to the roll call except Alds. Casey, Hanthorn, Jackman and Thoroughgood.

The journal of the last meeting was read and approved.

The resignation of W. H. Morrissey as a member of Rescue Hook and Ladder Company was read, as was also the appointment by the chief engineer of John Knutson as a member of the same company to fill vacancy. Both papers were referred to the committee on fire and water, and subsequently reported back and approved.

A petition signed by Hon. Fenner Kimball, reciting certain facts concerning the grade and lines of South First street, and asking the council to cause the removal of obstruction in that street between Main street and the river Referred to the highway, street and bridge committee.

A petition, signed by a number of business men, was presented and read, asking the council to grant Clarence L. Steele a saloon license. Placed on file.

The city clerk read the following:—

To The Mayor and Common Council:—The undersigned, who are signers of the petition presented to your honorable body, asking the removal of the slaughter houses from their present offensive and illegal position, hereby request of your honorable body as follows:

WHEREAS, Since the vote of the common council, declaring that the slaughter houses must be moved before Dec. 1st, 1889, no apparent attempt whatever has been made by any owner or occupant of any such house to remove the same, and;

WHEREAS, From the boastings and ridicule indulged in by certain owners of the slaughter houses, in reference to maintaining them where they now are, it is apparent that they do not intend to remove them in accordance with the order of the council; and

WHEREAS, On and after December 1st, it will be too late to remove such buildings without great expense,

Therefore, We earnestly urge and request your honorable body to rescind the vote adopted at a recent meeting directing the city attorney not to prosecute the owners or occupants of slaughter houses under the city ordinance.

Dated, Oct. 21st, 1889.

F. H. KOTHMAN,
P. V. L. KOCH,
F. C. HASELTON,
JOHN FALTER,
JOHN RILEY,
THOS. COSTELLO,
C. LUDOLPH,
GEO. B. LITTLE.

City Attorney Doe stated in connection with the above petition that Mayor St. John had requested before leaving the city that the city attorney present the matter to the council as he (the mayor) would do so were he here. His Honor was strongly of the opinion that the council cught to take some such action in the matter; he had been threatened with arrest under the statute unless some steps were taken; the council should in some manner indicate that they meant what they said.

The petition was referred to the judiciary committee.

Alds. Thoroughgood and Jackman took their seats.

A batch of miscellaneous bills was referred to the judiciary committee.

Ald. Conrad, of the finance committee, reported in favor of allowing sundry miscellaneous bills against the several funds, aggregating as follows:

General fund	$ 74 00
Highway, street and bridge fund	51 81
Gas and electric light fund	995 76
Fire and water fund	52 47
First ward fund	227 28
Second ward fund	262 31
Third ward fund	180 77
Fourth ward fund	125 68
Fifth ward fund	57 57
Total	$1,727 65

The report was concurred in.

Ald. Baker, of the judiciary committee, to whom was referred the slaughter house petition, stated that he hardly knew how to report. When the council fixed the date for removing the slaughter houses at December 1st, he believed they were in earnest and it would be hard to change it. If the butchers think it a hardship to change them it is their fault and not the council's. The ridicule indulged in by the owners of the slaughter houses would not amount to anything only that it was a little unpleasant but it might not be so funny next December. Three of the butchers had already found places outside of the city. They were Messrs. Joseph Loeb A. F. Krueger and C. H. Kueck. The others could probably find places also. He should report unfavorably on the petition, and moved to lay it on the table, which motion was adopted.

On motion of Ald. Conrad, of the finance committee, the clerk was directed to draw an order on the treasury in favor of City Attorney Doe, for $48.42, money due witnesses in the several cases of the city in the municipal court. Adopted.

The question of granting a license to C. L. Steele came up, and the former action of the council was adhered to by a vote of four to four.

Ald. Thoroughgood, of the highway street and bridge committee, reported that new planking had been placed on Spring Brook bridge, and that all necessary repairs had been made to the Monterey bridge, and that structure was now in good repair.

Ald. Baker, an order permitting Messrs. Loucks and Anderson to sell live stock, farm machinery, produce, etc., at auction for six months without taking out license. Adopted.

Ald. Horn, granting W. B. Conrad permission to construct a business block on Court street and to occupy portions of street with building material, under certain restrictions. Adopted.

Alds. McLean, Conrad, Rowe and Jackman, introduced orders for the construction of tile drains, building of cross walks, and for the serving of notices on many property owners to build sidewalks. All of which were adopted.

Ald. Thoroughgood, presented the following petition, which was signed by fifty or more prominent tax-payers of the city:

To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville:

GENTLEMEN:—The undersigned property owners of this city desire to enter an earnest protest against the sale of either of the fire steamers, and respectfully ask your honorable body to withdraw the same from sale.

We believe that the time may come when the steamers will be indispensible in saving property far exceeding the money value placed on them.

On motion of Ald. McLean the petition was received and placed on file.

Ald. Rowe remarked that there had been much said in relation to the tile contract recently awarded to Mills Bros. The judiciary committee was accused of acting unfairly in awarding the contract. He was in favor of Akron tile from the first, and believed that the city had acted wisely in selecting Akron tile. He had received several letters from firms using this tile, all the way from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean, and he was now thoroughly convinced that the city made no mistake in awarding the contract. The clerk he said, could read the letters if the aldermen wished to hear them.

The clerk read the bids for furnishing the city with coal as follows—20 tons of range, and three tons of No. 4. The bids were as follows:—

	Range.	No. 4.
A. W. Buggs	$7 25	$7 25
W. H. H. Macloon	6 85	7 25
Blair & Gowdey	$154 85
Smith & Gateley	7 25	7 25
D. K. Jeffris	7 00	7 00

Ald. Baker moved that the contract be awarded to the lowest bidder. Adopted.

Blair & Gowdey's bid proved the lowest, and the contract was awarded to that firm, their bid being at the rate of $6 75 per ton.

City Attorney Doe stated that he had been requested by Mr. Ed. F. Carpenter and E. M. Hyzer to request the council to authorize the city attorney to discontinue the other suits against Mr. Carpenter with the exception of the one appealed to the circuit court.

Ald. McLean moved that City Attorney Doe discontinue the suits pending in the municipal court against Mr. Ed. Carpenter for driving piles in the river with the exception of the one appealed to the circuit court when Mr. Carpenter shall have paid the costs. Adopted.

On motion of Alderman McLean the council adjourned.

THE G. A. R. BOYS.

THEIR EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY ENTERTAINMENT AT COLUMBIA HALL LAST EVENING.

A large number of ladies and gentlemen gathered at Columbia Hall last evening to witness the eighth anniversary entertainment given by the members of W. H. Sargent Post, No. 20, G. A. R. The programe as published in the Gazette was followed with one or two exceptions, and the entertainment was one of the most successful ever held. Each one taking part in the musical and literary exercises did exceedingly well, winning merited applause from the audience, especially was this the case with the Ladies Orchestra, this being the first time they have appeared in public. Surgeon-General Palmer was master of ceremonies and everything moved along like clock work. The speech making was delegated to Rev. H. Baldwin Dean and the Rev. Mr. Elliott, both of whom spoke to the point and did not tire their hearers, but instead their remarks were very interesting and entertaining.

The first part of the programme being concluded the floor was cleared, and the young people, with many not quite so young, enjoyed the merry dance to the music of Prof. Tuckwood's orchestra until a late hour in the evening. All together, the exercises and dance were a most flatttering success, and a credit to all participating, especially to the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the first part of the programme.

"It's only a question of time," and a short time, too, as to when your rheumatism will yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Having purchased of F. A. Vankirk his interest in the firm heretofore known as Vankirk Bros., I shall continue to do business at the old stand, 123 West Milwaukee street, in the same upright manner that the old firm has always done business. I shall endeavor to keep in stock everything that pertains to a first class store, and such goods as will suit the trade. I hope to see all of the old customers and friends and as many new ones as may choose to call on me. You will always find my prices as low as any place in the city, and if you will call and see me I will try and do you good.

Respectfully,
C. N. VANKIRK.

SELLING AN ENGINE.

AN OPTIONAL CONTRACT CLOSED WITH THE MAYOR OF DURAND.

Yesterday afternoon, after returning from the "Island," the committee on fire and water held a meeting at the council chamber for the purpose of taking into consideration the sale of one of our steam engines. The mayor of Durand was present, and while he was authorized to make a purchase he desired an option on the engine. He had witnessed the exhibition in the forenoon, and took a great liking to the rotary engine, and was willing to give the price asked—$1,500. He also desired to purchase a hose cart and hook and ladder truck, and the committee finally gave him a ten days option on the engine, hook and ladder truck, and one of the hand hose carts, the price being eighteen hundred dollars free on board the cars in this city. Mayor Osterreigher, of Durand, said to a Gazette reporter last night, that while he had the authority to make the purchase himself, he desired to first make a report to the council, and was sure that his action would be unanimously ratified by that body.

There are many in the city who are strongly opposed to selling either one of our engines, fearing something may happen to the water works, etc., and believing that the price received is far below the real value. In disuse, neither one of the engines will long retain their value, and if our authorities "sold the water company to the bargain," the time will never come in Janesville when a steam fire engine—especially one now owned—will be required to work at a fire. They may be worth the price set upon them as ornaments, or to dispel the fears of the timid, but so far as making them useful—unless they are kept continually ready for service,—in case the water works fail, is a question that will require space to explain, and while it is being argued the engines will rust down and become useless.

The members of the council have thoroughly discussed all these points, and concluded last spring that one of the engines was all that the city would need, and on this conclusion they instructed the committee to sell either one for the price named. Those who have examined into the matter believe that both the seller and the buyer have struck a bargain. Janesville has sold a good engine at a fair price, which if kept would soon depreciate in value, and Durand has secured a first class machine at very low cost, and ought to feel perfectly satisfied. People in Janesville, accustomed to seeing the west side beauty at work at fires, will soon accustom themselves to the new order of things, and will sleep as soundly as ever, and as securely.

THE POLARIS CLOCK.

A Timepiece That Was Buried in Arctic Ice for Four Years.

On the desk of Edson B. Brace, chief clerk of the bureau of equipment and recruiting in the navy department, is a little rosewood case, bound and inlaid with brass and bronze. It is in the form of a cube, about eighteen inches high, and contains a chronometer such as is used on all naval vessels. This little instrument has quite a tragic history, says the Washington Star, and is held of considerable value. It was the ship's chronometer of the unfortunate Polaris, that was sent out on an arctic expedition by the navy department in 1871. When the Polaris was nipped in the ice, Capt. Hall saved this instrument and some other things from the vessel. As long as Capt. Hall survived he kept the chronometer with him. When he perished it was buried in the arctic snows and abandoned. This was some time in 1872. For four winters it lay buried in the snow and ice.

In 1876 Capt. Nares of the British navy, now Sir George Nares, then in command of the last royal expedition to the arctic region, discovered this chronometer at Newman's bay. He dug it out of the snow and took it to England with him on his return. It had then been buried in the snow for four years in a region where the mercury sinks to 104 degrees below freezing point. It was found to be in perfect order, and was wound and ran all right as soon as it was taken from its cold bed. On returning to England, Capt. Nares turned the instrument over to the British admiralty office, from whence it was sent as a present to this government. With all this experience it loses only a single second in 24 hours.

FERDINAND WARD, PRINTER.

The Wall Street Financier Has Learned a Useful Trade.

Financier Ferdinand Ward, late of Wall street, New York, has risen to the dignity of being classed as a steam job printer, says a Sing Sing, N. Y. letter. His little printing office in Sing Sing prison has recently been equipped with an addition to the plant in the shape of a half-medium Gordon press. It is run by steam power, a belt being attached to the shafting which runs the sewing machines in the clothing shop overhead. Ward is highly pleased with his acquisition, and spends much time in polishing it up. Heretofore he has done all his work on a little amateur treadle press. When he had a job which was too large for the size of the press he used to work it off by ingeniously printing part of it at a time. Practical printers who have visited the institution have wondered how he did some of the work, the lines being joined together so accurately. His new press allows him to print the largest blank required in the prison without trouble. He has improved very much in his style of printing lately, turning out work with a professional finish. He had a razzle-dazzle idea of punctuation when he first started to work for the State of New York, but he can now stick periods, commas and exclamation points in their proper places.

The King of Waterfalls.

I must leave to some able writer the work of picturing to the world in suitable language the grandeur of what will soon be known as the highest waterfall in the world. It consist of three leaps in an almost direct line, but when standing about a quarter of a mile away it has the appearanne of a straight leap with two breaks. The upper leaps are equidistant and the lower one shorter. The water issues from a narrow defile in the rock at the top of the precipice; it then makes one grand leap of 815 feet in a rocky basin on the face of the cliff; issuing forth once more it makes another fine leap of 751 feet and then goes tumbling headlong into one wild dash of 338 feet into the pool right at the foot of the precipice. It will thus be seen that the total height of the fall is 1,904 feet, thus making it the highest waterfall that has yet been discovered in the world.

Proceeding right on to the pool at the food—hewn out, we are told, by the heavy fall of water from the mound of stones and debris projected over in times of flood—at the expense, however, of getting drenched with the spray, a splendid view of the whole is obtained, and when the sun is shining the effect is enhanced by a beautiful rainbow of colors of the most brilliant kind conceivable and nearly a full circle in shape.

Success in life is the result of push and energy. If the blood is impure and sluggish, both body and mind lack vigor. To cleanse and vitalized the blood and impart new life to the system, nothing else has such a marvelous effect as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
